[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Attempted Assassinations Lynched.

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—The Democrat's special from Bayou Sara says on Sunday night last as Dr. Wm. B. Archer was returning home he was put upon by six negro men who were lying in the bushes waiting for him. Five of the negroes had double barrelled guns and one a musket. Dr. Archer was on horseback and riding on top of the levee. The assassins were concealed behind two cottonwood trees standing within a few feet of the road, and all of the negroes fired as the doctor was passing the trees, his clothes being riddled with bullet holes. He was thrown from his horse, but fortunately not much injured. The assassins ran away. It was ascertained where the parties were. On Tuesday five of them were caught and hung. Two of the prisoners were allowed to make their statements. They stated that they intended to kill Dr. Archer on Sunday night, and after making away with him they were to kill others. They said also that they belonged to an organized band, the object of which was to kill the leading white men in the country and establish a government of their own.

Explosion in a Coal Pit.

An explosion in a coal pit at Haydock today shook the earth for miles around. The managers descended the shaft five minutes after the explosion and others followed. Some men were rescued alive and sent to the surface. One died almost immediately and others suffered much from after damp. Eight other men are alive and have taken refuge in a working of the mine. Two hundred and thirty-two are dead. Explorers state that they found the bodies decapitated, reduced to shapeless masses and some blown to pieces. It is expected corpses will be brought up by midnight. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

LONDON, June 8.—An explosion in the Wood coal mines, Haydock, yesterday, occurred at 11 in the morning. The following particulars are given:

Wood Pit colliery consists of two mines—Ravenshead and Florida. The explosion was confined to the former named. The men went to work at 6 A. M. The condition of the mine had been examined as usual, and ten minutes after the disaster it was to all appearances safe. There were 250 men in the Wood Pit colliery, 18 in the Ravenshead, and the remainder in the Florida mine. The men in Ravenshead were got at immediately. One died, and the others were much affected by the after damp. The two mines are connected by a tunnel, and it was in the working of the Florida mine beyond the tunnel that the explosion occurred. The general opinion is that every man in that part of the mine is dead. Explorers found dead bodies of men and horses on every side, fearfully burned and mutilated. The men engaged in exploring the mine are working day and night, endeavoring to reach the place where most of the bodies are supposed to be. General grief prevails, nearly every family in the village of Haydock having suffered the loss of one or more of its members. The manager of the mine went down less than five minutes after the explosion and, finding a number of men at the bottom lying on their faces, opened the ventilation doors, and thus saved the lives of 18 men in Ravenshead mine. The bodies already found are all much disfigured.

THE POTTER INVESTIGATION.

A Disgusting Mess, which Doesn't Reflect Credit on Anybody.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Blackburn, who had been absent from the executive session, asked what progress had been made. The chairman said the certificates had been compared and it was learned that certificate No. 1, bearing genuine signatures, was the one that was before congress and the electoral commission; that this period had only one list for president and vice president, which was contrary to law, while the second and third certificates [illegible] made out, that the one of certificate No. 2 had also been before the electoral commission and was printed as part of its record.

Cox said that nobody had objected to it before the commission.

McMahon said because nobody suspected it was bogus.

Cox said that if McMahon should jump to the conclusion that the certificates were bogus, the commission would pass on that. It was understood that the business of the secret session was a critical comparison of electoral returns from Louisiana, the order issued for the appointment of the clerk of the treasury department for all recommendations on file for the appointment of Anderson's brother to a position in Baltimore, and the secretary of state was requested to furnish the commission all original communications on file with him purporting to come from any members of the [illegible] commission, together with certified copies of all communications delivered to the commission from the state department or the president. The chair presented the following communication from the president:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, June 6, 1878.

SIR: I am in receipt of your note of yesterday. In complying with the request of the committee I have no recollection of receiving any such letter from Senator Matthews as the one described in the resolution, and that I find no such letter among my papers. The only letters relating to the subject received within the period, are on file in the state department. Copies of the same and of all communications on the subject, which are in my possession or control, are herewith transmitted.

Your obedient servant, R. B. HAYES.

HON. STANLEY MATTHEWS—Dear Sir: When in Washington I filed application for a consulship, signed by the Republican delegation from this state, together with a written request from President Hayes to have me appointed. Mr Evarts said no vacancy existed and for the present he could make none. The morning papers announced the death of Mr Clayton, consul at Callao, Peru, the place to which I desired especially to go. This creates a vacancy and there would be no impropriety in Mr. Evarts' giving me the appointment. I write you at General Harlan's suggestion that you secure the appointment or hold it open until his arrival in Washington. (Signed)

JAS. E. ANDERSON.

Levisse recalled—In reply to a question by Cox relative to any further facts concerning attempts to bribe witness, he said he had a very strong suspicion in advance of a proposition that was to be made, and after reflecting over the matter during the night and before he went to see the author the first time, he thought he would go and see Marshal Pitkin about it. He thought by revealing the facts to Pitkin he would then have no power to accept the offer; and in conversation with Pitkin he (Pitkin) proposed to draw the parties on until the last moment, with a view of finding who they were and keep them from attempting to bribe any one else.

By chairman—Have you any idea who signed your names in the certificates which you have testified were not signed by you?

Answer—Not the remotest idea.

By Cox—Have you any recollection as to the number of times you signed your name, or the places?

Answer—My recollection is distinct as to the places I signed, but I do not remember the number of times, but should say at least ten or twelve in the several certificates made out.

Chairman—Have you anything additional to add to your statement in regard to your voting blank, as was charged?

Answer—Nothing in particular; I took a ticket and indorsed my name on it; there was no blank vote; I can swear positively to having heard them read as they were taken out of the book; after they were voted there were eight pieces read, and I am confident the names of Hayes and Wheeler were written on each of them.

Levisse was at this point excused, and the chairman announced that the vice president pro tem. of the senate (Ferry) could not appear before the commission until later in the day, and the committee took a recess.

McKinney, deputy clerk of the supreme court and clerk of the electoral commission, submitted printed copies of the original certificates used before the electoral commission, and testified that the original now before the Potter commission had been compared with printed copies. The certificates were never graded by the commission, but were printed in the back part of the book containing the record of the proceedings of the electoral commission, and at the suggestion of Garfield he recently compared said certificates.

Witness continued—The commission dealt only with printed papers, except in one or two instances; could not explain how the certificates became mixed and duplicated in printing.

During examination by McMahon, Mr. Cox accused him of assuming that he was counsel for the prosecution, whereupon McMahon said Cox was entirely mistaken and that he (Cox) was assuming a role entirely foreign to him, namely, a defender of fraud.

At the request of the chairman, the examination proceeded, and witness stated in reply to questions by McMahon that when Gen. Garfield came to him inquiring into the matter of the mixture of certificates in the printed volumes, he said, "You will probably see the importance of these in a few days. There has been some charge that some of the certificates were forged."

In reply to questions by Chairman Potter, McKinney testified that Garfield came to him in the clerk's office of the supreme court, and to the best of his recollection asked him if he remembered the difference in the Kellogg Louisiana certificates, to which he replied that he did, but did not recollect what the difference consisted in. Whereupon, at Gen. Garfield's request, I got the octavo volume called the Count of the Electoral Vote in which the duplication appeared, and while Gen. Garfield read certificate No. 1 I looked at No. 2, and the difference was that one of the certificates was separate as to Hayes and Wheeler and the other was a joint certificate. The certificates, witness stated, were never compared after they were received from the printer. In one or two instances, at requests of members, the papers were sent direct from the printing office to their house, that they might receive them early in the day.

Judge A. B. Levissee was recalled and made some corrections in his previous testimony, among which was one denying having told Asher he would take $200,000 and refuse to accept his electoral certificate.

A letter was read from Senator Matthews regarding the invitation of the committee for him to appear, declining to accept, though without disrespect to the committee. He says that the only information he had concerning the proceedings before the committee was newspaper articles. He had, on account of newspaper reports, made a personal explanation in the senate and moved a committee of inquiry, which was adopted, and the senate alone therefore had jurisdiction of the matter; and so far as he was invited to submit explanations of his correspondence with Anderson to the committee, he considers it would be improper to comply. He has no knowledge whatever of the alleged frauds which the committee are authorized to investigate except what is revealed by correspondence already submitted.

Morrison remarked when the letter was finished, "We shall have to issue a subpena for him."

The chairman said he had intimated at the beginning of the proceedings that Matthews might wish to be present, but the minority had said they didn't desire to call him.

Cox exonerated the chairman from discourtesy.

The clerk of the committee being asked, said he had furnished Matthews a copy of all the testimony concerning him.

Butler said he supposed he had misheard the reading of Matthews' letter, wherein he stated he had no knowledge of the committee's doings, except newspaper reports. He saw by the reading of the letter that he heard correctly.

Cox said a copy of the testimony had been sent to Matthews.

Butler said it was an important matter, affecting the privileges of the house to which he would not submit. Every man, when called on in due form, must appear and give evidence.

Sherman's Letter to the Potter Committee.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Secretary Sherman declines to make public his letter to the Potter committee yesterday until that committee acts upon it. The secretary in the letter replies to the charge that he had entered into a conspiracy to make false returns of an election that was free and fair by an offer of [illegible] to show that there was fraud, violence and intimidation in East and West Feliciana parishes by Democrats. He furnishes the names of about 150 witnesses to prove his assertions; refers to the testimony of witnesses in former investigations and gives a resume of the number of persons whipped, burned and hanged. He asks that the committee [illegible] to prove what he asserts, in view of the attack upon his character.

The Potter Sub-Committee.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 8.—The committee on [illegible] clerk of Clay county. He testified [illegible] because it was [illegible] the inspectors were sworn.

C. A. Bryan, clerk of Leon county, and C. H. Edwards, [illegible] clerk, [illegible] that [illegible] them before the election [illegible] he had [illegible] with said [illegible] had given the [illegible] to Hayes [illegible] Bowes said the poll list was made to correspond with these votes. A witness, Edwards, said he had objected to the use of [illegible]. [illegible] knew of an election that was carried by using them.

The point sought to be developed by the examination of McKinney is that certificate No. 1, which Levisse described as containing his genuine signature, contains only the single statement that the electors voted for president and vice president, while certificate No. 2, to which Levisse says his signature is a forgery, contains a double statement of the vote for president and the vote for vice president. It appears that in both printed volumes, the one in quarto form corresponding with the Congressional Record, and the one in octavo form, it is only No. 2 that is printed. [illegible] The only explanation that could be offered by McKinney, secretary of the electoral commission, was that the printed copies of No. 1 and No. 2 were so nearly identical in the first page that in gathering together copies that were to be used they got mixed together, there being no printed number to distinguish them, and when he turned them over to the official stenographer, that the copies were to be printed in the appendix, he had given him two of the same kind, instead of two of different kinds.

That was the substance of McKinney's testimony, except that another somewhat interesting incident was also related. That was, that some five or six weeks ago Gen. Garfield called upon him and asked him if he recollected the difference between certificates Nos. 1 and 2. Mr. McKinney did not at first recollect, but when he and Garfield went to comparing certificates in the printed volume the recollection of the difference came fresh upon him, and he stated it to Garfield and furnished him with some extra copies from the store room, where they had been thrown as waste paper.

Samuel B. McLin was shown a number of telegrams to Governor Stearns, mostly from W. E. Chandler, setting forth that the election and salvation of the country depended on Florida, and means and troops would be furnished. Some gentlemen came to represent Hayes, including Chandler and Noyes. He was told anything that Noyes said the president would be responsible for and was told by General Wallace that members of the returning board would be taken care of if the state went for Hayes. Chandler promised me myself and Cowgill would be taken care of and would say for General Noyes and himself. Noyes never said so directly to witness, but Noyes thanked him, after the canvass and congratulating him on the result said witness acted nobly. Witness and Stearns agreed that the returns would elect Hayes. There were three returns from Baker county. One of these elected Hayes by forty majority, but either of the others gave Tilden 90 majority in the state. He had, when opportunity admitted, presented such returns as were cast favorable to Hayes and generally the most regular.

The first canvass, witness stated, gave Hayes six or seven majority by throwing out several precincts. A great many affidavits made before the board were ex parte on both sides. The second canvass showed about 211 majority for Hayes arrived at by throwing out Clay county entirely. The return was neither regular nor proper upon its face and could not be understood. The irregularity consisted in a statement on a scrap of paper attached to the returns that 74 votes had been cast at one precinct for Tilden and Hendricks, and that the board could not decide whether these votes were included in the regular returns of votes for their election. In the first canvass the board included the returns from Clay county.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

SENATOR STANLEY MATTHEWS AND THE LOUISIANA POLITICIANS—HE SOLICITS OFFICE FOR ANDERSON IN CONSIDERATION OF CERTAIN "SERVICES."

The following letters are among the correspondence submitted by James E. Anderson to the Potter committee:

CINCINNATI, May 7, 1877.

James E. Anderson, New Orleans—DEAR SIR: I inclose a letter to General Thomas E. Anderson asking his influence in favor of your appointment as a deputy collector, in answer to yours of the 3d instant, just received. Let me hear from you as to the result.

STANLEY MATTHEWS.

MATTHEWS TO THE COLLECTOR AT NEW ORLEANS.

CINCINNATI, May 7, 1877.

Thomas E. Anderson, New Orleans—DEAR SIR: The appointment of James E. Anderson as one of three deputy collectors, or to some other suitable place satisfactory to him, in the custom house at New Orleans I would regard as in the interest of the public service, a deserved recognition of his services and a personal favor to myself. May I venture to ask your personal influence in his favor?

STANLEY MATTHEWS.

MATTHEWS TO SECRETARY EVARTS.

CINCINNATI, May 14, 1877.

W. M. Evarts—MY DEAR SIR: The bearer, Mr James E. Anderson, of New Orleans, is the gentleman with reference to whom, when last in Washington, I had a private conversation with you, urging his appointment to a consulship. Mr Anderson has had until now a subordinate clerkship in the custom house at New Orleans, which has always been unsatisfactory to him, and now his residence there has become so unpleasant that he has abandoned it and his clerkship. The circumstances in which Mr. Anderson has been placed, and in which he has been compelled to act a very difficult part, are such as to give him very strong claims upon the administration in the public interests, and I do most earnestly urge that some satisfactory public employment may be found for him at once.

STANLEY MATTHEWS.

MATTHEWS TO ANDERSON AGAIN.

CINCINNATI, May 25, 1877.

James E. Anderson—DEAR SIR: I received your letter to day and very much regret you are not satisfied with the appointment tendered you, and which, by the papers this morning I understand was the consulate at Funchal. I really am at a loss to know what further to do. I am quite willing to do anything you may suggest that gives a reasonable promise of success. Did you see Mr Evarts personally? Write to me and explain everything fully, and let me know what you think I can do further to serve you.

STANLEY MATTHEWS.

HOW A CLERK CAN TALK TO A U. S. SENATOR.

WASHINGTON, June 7, 1877.

Hon. Stanley Matthews, Cincinnati, O.—The president claims to have received no letter. I want no more correspondence and no more nonsense. Come here and arrange the affair or [illegible] face the music. Telegraph me at once. I care nothing about the documents in your possession.

ANDERSON.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 8.

A bill was reported from the senate committee on territories to-day authorizing the enactment of laws by Washington territory establishing banks or branch banks for deposit and discount only. The power to authorize issue of circulating notes is expressly withheld. It is understood to be in the interest of certain Portland bankers.

Spencer submitted the following:

Resolved, In order that all the facts connected with the presidential election of 1876, and that the result may be fully known to the American people, a select committee of eight senators be appointed to inquire into all charges of fraud, illegality, intimidation, violence and other obstacles to a free and honest suffrage occurring at said election in the states of South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana, and also into all similar charges which said committee may deem of sufficient gravity concerning said election in Alabama, Mississippi, Oregon, or any other state.

[illegible]

Spencer gave notice that he would call the resolution up every day until a vote upon it should be reached.

Bruce reported in favor of concurring in the house amendment increasing the pension of Gen. James Shields from $50 per month to $100.

A Sensation among the Democrats.

[Washington Telegram, May 29.]

Letters of Postmaster General Key and Alexander H. Stephens, regarding the Potter investigation, have created a sensation among the politicians, especially those attached to the Democratic party. The Republican leaders attach much importance to both these letters, and believe they will have a marked effect upon the country. A prominent Republican senator said to-day that he regarded Key's appeal to the people of the south to elect only members of congress who are pledged to resist, at all hazards, the revolutionary schemes of the mischief makers in the house, as both manly and patriotic, and that it will receive the approval of the people of all the north, who are opposed to the reopening of the presidential question. This letter, said the senator, will create consternation in the Democratic ranks, and have the effect to either stop the revolutionary course of a few Democratic leaders, or precipitate matters so that the country will clear away the mist before the eyes of many Democrats [illegible] their leaders [illegible] Stephens's letter is [illegible] as much as is General Key's, and his [illegible] truthful utterances are very annoying to those Democrats who are in sympathy with the Potter investigation.

And What is to Hinder

[From the Cincinnati Gazette.]

What is to hinder the Democrats from starting an investigation? It might begin with the Gramercy Park [illegible]. If you make it [illegible] March, it can be done and the [illegible]."

New York World: If Senator Sargent will move an amendment that Gen. Grant shall be kept on full pay as long as he will agree to travel in Europe, that proposition may be worth considering.

THE IDAHO INDIAN WAR!

Movement of Troops to Protect Settlers—Numerous Bands of Indians Seen Gathering from Different Directions—Long Ride by Col. Bernard's Messenger—A Hot Summer's Work for all the Troops that can be Gathered—The Murderous Redskins' Rendezvous—Soldiers Ordered from [illegible].

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—A dispatch from Silver City, Idaho, says about forty hostile Bannacks, camped on [illegible] creek, ten miles from South Mountain, were discovered yesterday by friendly Indians. Capt. Harper, who left here last night with twenty Home Guards, sent here this morning for reinforcements, which will be sent forward immediately. If the Indians remain where they are Harper will certainly attack them to-night or to-morrow morning.

BOISE CITY, June 8.—James [illegible], messenger, left Col. Bernard's command at [illegible] on the Bruneau early yesterday morning, came down the Bruneau to [illegible] ferry on Snake river, thence followed down the north side of the river, [illegible] miles to Munday's ferry and thence to this place, [illegible] miles, riding all day and night of yesterday and arriving here at 4 o'clock to-day. The reports of scouts sent in the direction of Duck valley showed the Indians were in strong force at Juniper mountain and in considerable numbers along the hills, making it unsafe for the families on the Bruneau to leave in that direction.

Col. Bernard, in consequence of these reports and the indications of the presence of Indians everywhere in the neighborhood of his command, decided to wait where he was until he could learn more definitely from Duck valley and other points. Col. Robbins, chief of scouts, was sent forward with twenty men towards Duck valley to learn the fate of the settlers and to escort them to the camp on Bruneau if possible. The command will remain at Robinson for three days or until Robbins' return and then come to Munday's ferry, escorting all the families to that point.

The indications are that the Indians are gathering in large numbers at Juniper mountain and in the Battle creek country, where they will probably await the coming of reinforcements and bide the issue of battle. The force in the field is too weak, too small, even to reconnoiter effectively, so that very little can be done before the arrival of reinforcements. All that can be done is to hold the ferries yet remaining on Snake river, protect the roads as far as possible, and guard against surprise.

James Bascom, brother of John Bascom, who with two others was murdered by the Indians just below Glenn's ferry on the 1st, upon learning of the murder started from Rock Creek station, on the overland road, with an escort of four men for the purpose of visiting the scene of the murder and bringing in the bodies of the murdered men. When within seven miles of Glenn's ferry they saw some Indian scouts to whom they gave chase until they came in sight of a body of Indians numbering 40 or 50, who in turn pursued them. They were obliged to flee in the direction whence they came. They returned to Payne's ferry, leaving one of their number whose horse had become unmanageable. The unhorsed man remained hidden in the sage brush while the Indians passed him and afterwards traveled all night, reaching Payne's ferry in safety. Judging from this experience and reports of others that the route was unsafe from the presence of numerous bodies of Indians passing down the river on the south side, Mr. Bascom was obliged to abandon his design and come to this place, arriving here to-day. His brother, who was murdered on the 1st, remains yet unburied where he fell.

From Big Camas prairie a few Indians are reported to be seen occasionally, but as there is no force operating in that direction nothing can be known of the condition of the lava beds. Gen. Howard is daily expected here by stage, and the column moving from the west are to-night encamped at Baker City, Ogn., 150 miles from this place. As things now look there will be a hot summer's work for all the troops which may be sent to this region.

Troops Coming from the East.

OMAHA, June 8.—Gen. Crook has ordered three companies from Camp Douglas and two companies of cavalry from Fort Russell to immediately proceed to Fort Hall, Idaho, and take the field to quell the Indian disturbance.

FIGHT BETWEEN VOLUNTEERS AND BANNACKS.

Four Whites and Two Piute Scouts Killed—Captain Harper Forced to Retreat.

BOISE CITY, June 9.—Yesterday afternoon Capt. Harper's company of volunteers came across about sixty Bannack Indians, seven miles east of South Mountain, who attacked him. He was compelled to retreat, the Indians following him seven miles, killing four white men and two Piute scouts and wounding Thomas Bowes; also one man missing, several horses killed and wounded. Harper expects reinforcements this morning and then will return to the scene and recover the dead. Reports state that the hills are full of hostile Indians; need men and arms at once.

Down on Brayman.

BOISE CITY, I. T., June 9.—The citizens here were roused to a high state of exultation this evening by the receipt of a telegram to the effect that the president had appointed John P. Hoyt governor of Idaho. It is the almost universal wish that the senate will act promptly in confirming this appointment and that Gov. Hoyt will come forward at once. Never was a true man more needed.

The South Mountain Fight.

Of the affair near South Mountain, in Owyhee county, the public are doubtless already informed. Four citizens were killed, one wounded and one missing, who is believed to have been killed. Reinforcements were sent forward from Silver City and another fight was expected to take place to-day. Col. Robbins, who went with twenty scouts to Duck valley on Friday, is expected to return to Col. Bernard's command on the Bruneau to-night. If he arrives the command will start for Munday's ferry to-morrow morning. At Munday's ferry are the company of volunteers, thirty in number, who went from this city last week, and a government baggage train and escort which went from Fort Boise on Tuesday.

By overland stage which arrived at 4 P. M. to-day we learn that a considerable body of Indians was seen near Cold Spring station, 50 miles out of this place, last night.

All accounts agree that the Indians are continually passing across the stage road and across Snake river between Big Camas prairie and the scene of hostilities in Owyhee county. General Howard is expected here on Tuesday, and the column of troops moving from the west will arrive a day later. The Indians will probably make the first stand in the Juniper mountain region, but it is evident that only a portion of their fighting force is there and that they will also remain at Big Camas prairie, in the lava beds, until dislodged or forced to surrender. Col. Grover and Capt. Hunter will arrive in the morning.

LATEST.—A messenger has just arrived at Silver City from Capt. Harper's command who brings the news that O. H. Purdy and Chris. Stender were killed in the fight Saturday afternoon, and their bodies will arrive at Silver some time during the night. Newcomb, one of the men who was reported killed, states that not less than eight Indians were killed, but as the Indians had possession of the field no bodies were found. Newcomb and posse had to take to the brush and made for [illegible] reported missing, turned up all right this morning.

This morning the governor received a dispatch from Silver City: On yesterday Capt. Harper's company of 27 men encountered about 60 Indians east of South Mountain who attacked them. Harper retreated to Stein. O. H. Purdy, John Fasey, J. Newcomb and Christopher Stender, also two Piute scouts were killed. W. W. Hastings is missing and T. W. Jones wounded. Reinforcements having joined Harper, he moved for the enemy, who appeared numerous. On receiving this intelligence the governor ordered a mounted company from Idaho City to report here for dispatch to the front. A large quantity of arms, over one thousand, and ammunition is on the way from the Benicia and Vancouver arsenals.

ALARM ON SALMON RIVER.

Gen. Howard, who is now at Fort Walla Walla, on his way to Boise City, telegraphed as follows from that post yesterday:

"Reports from Gen. Wheaton represent some Bannacks appearing in the neighborhood of Salmon river, and people fleeing to Mount Idaho."

Remissness of the Government.

[From the Boise Statesman.]

For some time it has been evident that the Indians everywhere along the frontier have been contemplating an outbreak. The government has been repeatedly warned that the Bannacks were preparing for mischief, yet nothing was done to guard against it. The temporary success of the Bannacks, who have doubtless [illegible]

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

THE SUTRO ROYALTY.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The [illegible] has an interview with Thos. H. Williams, president of the Savage mining company, relative to the compromise with Sutro [illegible]. Yesterday directors of all the mining companies composing the combination to resist the payment of the royalty to Sutro met and passed resolutions authorizing the directors to withdraw from the combination, leaving each company free to act as it deems best with regard to the suits brought by companies to have the contracts for payment of royalties declared void. Savage, Hale & Norcross and Chollar also passed resolutions authorizing the withdrawal of suits. Best & Belcher and Gould & Curry have agreed to take the same course. The bonanza firm have taken no part in the negotiations regarding the compromise [illegible] as they are not in a position at present to avail themselves of the drainage facilities of the tunnel, and therefore are not disposed to pay for the same. Williams expressed the opinion that all the companies will eventually ratify their contracts with the tunnel company.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—So far as the true inwardness of the recent action of the Comstock mining companies in connection with the Sutro Tunnel Company can be arrived at, it is about as follows: Chollar, Hale & Norcross and Savage concede the right of the Tunnel Company to collect the royalty of $2 per ton on all ore raised after the completion of the tunnel. In accordance with the terms of the original agreement of April 13, 1866, this breaks up the combination of mining companies formed in January, 1874, to resist the collection of royalty. None of the mines, however, except those above mentioned, concede Sutro's right to collect the royalty, and in case of the three it is an admission of a barren right, as neither of these companies has any ore to hoist, and the tunnel will be useful to them without expense on their part. The bonanza mines, and probably others, will not concede the right to royalty. A Virginia City dispatch to-day gives an interview with Sutro who says no compromise has been arrived at. Savage company has notified the tunnel company of a readiness to withdraw from the suits and recognize the royalty. If all the companies should take the same action in good faith, everything will go along smoothly, but if only Savage, Hale and Norcross and Chollar, which have no ore and consequently nothing to pay, propose to avail themselves of the tunnel, leaving the latter to protracted litigation to compel payment by companies having ore, the company will probably not permit the use of the tunnel at all until an understanding is reached with all the companies.

But little further has been learned concerning the Sutro compromise except that Best & Belcher and Gould & Curry have taken the same course as Savage, Chollar and Hale & Norcross. All these companies have agreed to withdraw the suits, but the bonanzas will not agree to pay the royalty, as they consider that would be paying for services they do not receive.

A Little Game in Stocks.

VIRGINIA, June 7.—A nice little game in stocks has just leaked out here. There is a likely development in Crown Point which has been carefully concealed for some weeks and will be kept covered till Senator Jones gets here and is then used to give [illegible] a send off for election. The counter plot is also in the hands of General Williams in the body of Savage. This is being held for the same purposes as that in Crown Point. These little games are in the mouths of everybody this evening and those best posted swear there is truth in it. Senator Jones is mum as to the strike, while Gillette acknowledges that there is something in Savage and California. The bullion shipments for May were $904,190 [illegible] gold, $862,222 [illegible] silver; shipments of bonanza last evening, $324,022 71.

Some Truth to be Heeded.

[From the Church Union.]

We ought to take care to select honest men for all public offices and then we ought to treat them with sufficient respect to keep them honest. Unsupported charges of corruption will breed corruption quicker than almost any other thing. A man who is constantly called a thief will be very likely to become a thief in the end. A servant that is never trusted will seldom be trustworthy. The most scrupulous men are liable to become weary of well doing if they are always [illegible] do well or ill. Men who try to do their duty and are generally slandered for it are in imminent danger of falling, for they are subject to a double temptation, one before and one behind, and are likely to learn to deserve the defamation at last. Applause for well doing is one of the sweetest and most effective agencies of virtue; it is an influence that always makes for social order. It is getting to be almost a badge of disgrace for a man to be elected to public office in this country, in this land of boasted self-government, where such a choice should be a badge of honor and a pledge of courtesy. A sad day for America it will be when the best men all stand aloof from the polls and say, "No, I cannot afford to be elected, for I have a good name, and I have a wife and children who love me and would suffer to see me abused. I cannot accept your nomination." Already there are good men who say this, and already our politics are suffering for it. When that time comes in this country, and it seems to be hastening on, when all men shall say it, a free government will be a failure utterly, at least for such people as we, and the American republic will perish from the earth. Let us be wise in time.

The Man for Mr. Potter.

[From the Chicago Times.]

There is a lawyer in St. Louis who holds that the new constitution of Missouri is unconstitutional. Clarkson Potter should send for that man. He would be of supreme importance in drawing the papers for the ousting of Hayes.

THE SUMMING UP

In consequence of the receipt from the southern part of the state of returns more favorable to Beekman than those heretofore reported we are able to announce that there is scarcely a doubt of his election Our table after allowance is made for all claimed for Thayer in the eastern counties except Grant whose small Democratic majority is not precisely stated in any return yet received shows a majority of 112 for Beekman Grant may reduce this by thirty or forty votes but on the other hand Curry is understood to be Republican by a small majority and it is believed that the majority reported for Thayer in Umatilla and Wasco will be somewhat reduced We think Beekman has 80 or 100 majority For secretary of state Reames has a large vote in the southern part of the state but not enough to overcome Earhart s gain in other localities. There never has been a question about the election of Hirsch as treasurer and Carter for printer has perhaps 500 majority For superintendent of public instruction Powell appears to be elected by a majority of something like 200 Most of the Republican counties are officially reported and we put the Democratic counties at the largest estimated majorities For congress Whiteaker has hardly less than 500 over Hines

Had all the counties which have given Republican majorities on governor elected Republicans to the legislature there would be a decided Republican majority on joint ballot in that body. We need not enlarge on the causes why the result has been otherwise Such result as the fruit of an effort to get control of the legislature for a special object that could not be approved by a majority of the people, was foreseen and predicted by many but the effort was persisted in not only against warning and prediction but against entreaty, expostulation and remonstrance Fifty members of the legislature are Democrats, thirty-six are Republicans and four are Independents

This is the summing up Republicans have elected all their state ticket except the member of congress, and the Democrats owing mainly to the causes just referred to have the legislature Before the subject of last week's election is finally dismissed from comment it is fit that a word should be added in regard to the failure to elect Mr Hines as representative in congress. For reasons which suggest themselves to every person the nomination was not a wise one. The opinion expressed on this point by THE OREGONIAN at the time the nomination was made has been verified. Yet Mr Hines is a man of ability and in his calling is rightly held in general esteem. But it is needful to take into account the prejudices of people as well as their rational opinions, and in every community there are numbers who cannot be induced to support for political office one who has accepted a calling which has a certain description or degree of incompatibility with the strife of partisan politics. Again, there is a class whose active opposition is distinctly challenged by such candidacy, and though there may be no great respect for the reasons given or entertained for such opposition, it is fit nevertheless that the fact be taken into account. A thing that may in itself be right is not always expedient. We should have been glad had Mr Hines been elected but as at the time he was nominated we could not with sincerity say that it was a judicious thing, we cannot now refrain from this remark upon the result.

MATTHEWS AND "REFORM

The effort made by Senator Matthews to reward James E. Anderson for 'services rendered in giving the vote of Louisiana to Hayes, constitute a suggestive chapter in the history of civil service reform. Matthews is on the record as having begged a place for this person in different branches of the public service. He wrote to New Orleans, asking an appointment as deputy collector of customs at that port. This failing, he tried to get the secretary of state to give him a foreign appointment, stating pathetically that the part Anderson had acted gave him very strong claims upon the administration In view of these letters it is difficult to resist the conviction that Matthews had promised him that if he would do his part well in the election he should be suitably taken care of, though it nowhere appears that Hayes was a party to this bargaining. On the contrary he steadily ignored Matthews' recommendations in Anderson's behalf. Whether Matthews was an abettor of fraud or not, he appears here in a light which is disgraceful to him as a senator Anderson appears to be a very dirty fellow and this fact furnishes a still stronger reason why a senator of the United States should not be compromised with him, or seeking to reward his peculiar political "services' by thrusting him into lucrative public places To the honor of President Hayes be it said that he recognized no engagements made for him by Matthews

It is evident there are materials in Idaho for a first class Indian war The affair wears a really serious aspect. There is ferment among the Indians in the vicinity of Salmon river again, and settlers once more are fleeing to Mount Idaho. Quite a severe fight is re[illegible] a party of Bannacks in the vicinity of South Mountain. This is, we believe, in Owyhee county. The president has removed Gov Brayman, in order to place in the executive office of the territory a man with whom the citizens will more fully co-operate and who can better secure their confidence and support Troops are coming from the east and government is now preparing to act with vigor to stamp out an insurrection which by proper attention and exertion it could have prevented altogether But this is wisdom after the fact. It is energy born out of time

The convention of the Methodist Episcopal Church South has passed resolutions recommending that a grand centenary celebration of American Methodism be held in Boston on the 25th of December, 1884 This is the result of strong efforts made to effect a renewal of fraternal relations between the northern and southern branches of the Methodist church which were separated in the late war The northern branch has before this taken steps toward reuniting the church and the proposed meeting will if carried out mark the successful accomplishment of the plan of consolidation

It would have been cheaper to feed the Bannacks well than to be compelled now to fight them But parsimony at Washington strains at gnats till prodigality comes in swallowing camels The government will spend more money in subduing this band than it would have cost to feed them all their natural lives

An Independent View of the Oregon Election.

[From the Olympia Transcript]

To those at all acquainted with the politics of the state it is perfectly plain that the Republicans have failed to carry the election by sweeping majorities only for the lack of harmony in the party It is strange indeed that when there is a decided opposition of the people to a particular candidate notwithstanding his ability and popularity with a portion of his party the office holders in the state should risk the chances of defeat by attempting to control the nominations and force the voting population to endorse men whom it is known they will only support reluctantly if at all There are lessons which party leaders and managers are very unwilling to learn and prominent among them is, that the people are growing in intelligence and not willing as was the case forty years ago to allow a few leaders in politics on either side in a state to direct the voting Should the Republican party desire success hereafter it need not be expected through an attempt of our office holding ring to foist objectionable men upon the party What is true of Oregon is alike applicable to Washington territory as we believe that our people may justly lay claim to an equal share of intelligence with those of our mother state

Generous Action

[From the Hillsboro Independent]

Last Monday a small boy mounted on a mere skeleton of a horse, carrying a sack with some provisions, passed along Main street when W. Jackson and R Imbrie hailed him and asked him where he lived and what was his name and he said that his name was Davis and that he lived at the Alder Spring on the mountain on the Springville road and his parents had been in the country two years Messrs. Jackson Imbrie Pittenger Wehrung Steeples and others in a few minutes so abject seemed the condition of the boy and his horse made up a purse of about $2, and gave it to him and told him to give it to his mother The poor little fellow seemed to scarcely realize the good fortune that had befallen him and was in a hurry to be off for home, when if he had staid a few minutes longer he might have received several dollars more It was afterward learned that the father of the boy had sent him in after provisions and that he had tied behind his saddle a small stock of provisions which had cost the father an entire month s wages These generous givers will have their reward in a mother s blessing at least, and that is no small thing in this uncharitable world

Jay Gould has obtained a controlling interest in the Kansas Pacific road, and will remove the headquarters of the road from Kansas City to Omaha

A Wisconsin editor illustrated the prevailing extravagance of people now a days by calling attention to the costly baby carriages now in use while when he was a baby they hauled him by the hair of the head

THE T[illegible] A ross —About the mid dle of June 1876 Dr William Kemp started from Keokuk Iowa with his family consist ing of his wife and three children in a two horse wagon for the purpose of going to his brother who was [illegible] in the Black Hills in succeeded in [illegible] Unfortunately his horses were safety There [illegible] alkali water This m[illegible] poisoned by drinking alkali and without mean[illegible] fortune left him [illegible] He was com pelled to purchase a span of [illegible] pelled to dispose of the wagon and remain during the winter in the Black Hills country and had to work very hard to maintain him self and family In the spring he starte[illegible] west and managed to work his way as far as Ogden with [illegible] team On arriving there he was again [illegible] and unable to procee[illegible] further But his pluck never once deserted him. While there he formed the determina tion to come on foot the remainder of the distance Not having the means to purchase any sort of a vehicle Mr Kemp constructed a large wheelbarrow entirely from willows
Into this he bundled what few worldly goods he possessed and accompanied by his faithful wife and children he again turned his face toward the setting sun The wife and children footed it, while the husband and father trun dled the wheelbarrow After proceeding a considerable distance the barrow broke down but Kemp rebuilt the rude vehicle as best he could and once more resumed the long and painful journey Traveling by day and camp ing at night these people at length made their way to the base of the Blue mountains Here the family fortunately fell in with some freight teams and was kindly assisted to Umatilla They reached the Blue mountains about the 20th of May On arriving at Uma tilla the O S N Co when they learned of the circumstances brought Mr Kemp and his family down to Portland free They reached this city on the 30th of last month and were gladly welcomed by the father of Mr Kemp who is living on the Goodnough place. Soon after arriving here Mr Kemp applied to Mr C A Burchard for employ ment, but that gentleman did not give him much encouragement However when Mr Burchard heard all the circumstances of the case he told Mr Kemp to call round next morning and he should have all the work he wanted This story may appear very romantic to the incredulously disposed but we are assur ed by Mr Kemp that there is no poetry about the business but hard stern reality Talk about pluck and perseverance under adverse circumstances Mr Kemp is certainly en titled to wear the medal Such a man is bound to succeed in the battle of life and Oregon needs scores of men like Mr Kemp

TROOPS EN ROUTE —From the following it will appear that troops are moving from va field The three companies of cavalry which have been ordered from Fort Walla Walla and Camp Harney passed through Baker City yesterday Two companies of cavalry left Kelton on the Pacific railroad, last Friday morning, and must now be near the scene of trouble

SERENADED —Headed by the Northwestern Band the City Rifles on Saturday evening proceeded to the residence of B. L. Norden, Esq, the newly elected sheriff, and gave that gentleman a friendly call Several airs were discoursed by the band when the company was invited into the house Ben set the "fluids" up handsomely and made all feel happy and at home After spending a short time at the house the band played a parting air and with three rousing cheers for the new sheriff the crowd dispersed

[illegible] Deaves Topsy Miss Nellie Holbrook Eliza [illegible] Barrows The [illegible] Marks the Lawyer [illegible] together with full company and genuine colored people in the great plantation scenes with jubilee songs

In speaking of this company an exchange says The plantation scenes were particularly attractive but it was perhaps surpassed by the death scene of little Eva where her [illegible] father to release his slaves The [illegible] Fletcher was excellent as was that also [illegible] portrayed by Miss Carre True most faithfully The play afforded several accurate pictures of southern life introducing the slave market scenes once witnessed in New Orleans and the slaves picking cotton and walking for the cake The flight from bondage the pursuit the manly assistance of Phineas Fletcher the escape of Eliza on the ice and the death of Uncle Tom together with the brutality of Legree were all truthfully represented and contributed to the general success of the entire entertainment The melodies rendered by the colored Jubilee singer and the [illegible] dance by John Carter were excellent and the man [illegible] which little Eva rendered her [illegible] part created a most favorable impression The unscrupulous character who is a lawyer and whose name is Marks relieved the melancholy passages of the play and by his comicalities caused unbounded merriment The final tableau—little Eva in heaven—was beautiful in effect and formed a very fitting termination to the entertainment

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH KIMBALLIZES ITS CHURCH DEBT

The church debt paying mania has reached Portland The First Congregational church of this city has long carried a small debt which has been steadily growing larger until it reached the very respectable sum of $2 000 Last fall the energetic ladies of the society took hold of the matter and by a series of very successful sociables and entertainments succeeded during the winter in raising $400 toward the liquidation of this debt After the matter had been very quietly worked up by a few determined ones, yesterday morning Rev J A Cruzan after a brief pointed sermon on the necessity of its payment, boldly struck for the balance—$1 600 There were very few in the audience who thought it possible that so large a sum could be raised But without any undue urging or resorting to questionable expedients, or any excitement, in just thirty minutes $2 300 was pledged—making $2 700 in all! It seemed utterly incredible and yet figures which will not lie, proved it true The grand old doxology— Praise God from whom all blessings flow —burst from the heart of the delighted audience and was a fit closing to this memorable service

A committee has been appointed to wait on a large number connected with the church and society who were not present yesterday for ing to secure additional subscriptions. The balance after the payment of the debt will form the nucleus of an organ fund

SALMON FISHERIES

The Glasgow Herald has a very exhaustive article on the Columbia river trade in tinned salmon Following is a summary

Although the trade in tinned salmon [illegible] sixteen years ago it has only attained [illegible] during the last four years [illegible] [illegible] The various fish [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] fact [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ready stated for the sake of comparison The trade of salmon canning on the Columbia river during the first six or seven years was of slow growth the material was good enough but a market required to be created The first [illegible] tried the [illegible] to ship large quantities but the encouragement they received was of the slightest kind Many cargoes were returned to those who shipped them and others were sold at a loss but the dogged perseverance of the pioneers of the trade was at length rewarded the public in time took kindly to the canned fish and now the demand is said to exceed the supply After commenting on the value of the imported article the writer asks Will this supply of Columbia river fish continue and having first given a very graphic and minute description of the manner in which the fish are taken and the canneries operated says It must be borne in mind that the fish are all captured in their way to the spawning grounds and that consequently the number of [illegible] [illegible] must materially be decreased and the supply of future years thereby endangered He points out that an impression has already been made on the breeding stock [illegible] [illegible] alludes to the fact that one of the United States fishery commissioners was appointed to make enquiries on the subject of decreasing supplies and states that the proprietors of the canneries have subscribed the sum of $ [illegible] to aid the propagation of salmon In conclusion the writer remarks In November last it was known that the supply of salmon for the present year would be far under that of last year which again was less than in the season of 1876 by nearly [illegible] The shipments to Europe are also [illegible] by supplies sent to the Australian colonies [illegible] cases were sent there last year and the demand is on the increase Contracts for the present season are offered to the canning houses at an advance of twenty per cent on former prices but these offers were declined This story of the Columbia river is the old story which has been told of every salmon stream we ever heard of First the stock of fish is exhausted by over fishing and then money is expended right and left to try and replenish the river After the [illegible] [illegible] the stable door [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] which results in the killing of the goose for the sake of its golden egg

ELBERTIE E. GATES

Day after day we think what she is doing
In those bright realms of air
Year after year her tender steps pursuing Behold her grown more fair

We will be patient and assuage the feeling
We may not wholly stay
By silence sanctifying not concealing
The grief that must have way

Elbertie E Gates wife of Peter F Gates died at St Joe on the 26th day of May 1878 at the early age of twenty four summers (her exact age being 25 on the 1st day of August) She was born in Yamhill county and was the oldest child of J H Olds and wife who have lived among us for many years She was married on the 1st day of August 18 and has lived happily with her husband—a faithful and devoted wife

And Bertie Gates is dead as it was whispered from friend to friend—and she had many in our midst—on the morning after her death A gloom fell like a deep shadow over the entire community—a loss more sadly felt than can be expressed The friends and relatives had hopes shortly before her death that she would soon be restored to health again and when the sad word came the shock was too sudden As for herself she had not been so hopeful although she bore her intense suffering with patience and forbearance But on Sunday she became worse and by Tuesday noon that final preparation which we all dread was made slowly and deliberately by the dying woman Her near relatives were called and she had a message for each one In the last moments she was conscious and the longing good byes most affecting To her sister Della she gave her piano knowing that her hands would never again touch its silent keys To her mother she gave her bedroom set—an elegant marble top To her father she requested her husband to present him with a suit of clothes to her grandmother a dress to her little brother Peter twenty dollars to her brother D a shot gun to her sister Katie a locket to her older brother D N a present that her husband should select and to him her watch and chain He suggested that he give this to her mother No I want you to have my watch and chain These were purchased with her own money earned by her when a girl as a teacher and being dearest to her she would have him whom she tenderly loved keep them in memory of her

She was buried on Thursday at the Masonic cemetery and at her request they made her a grave by the side of her little babe that died just twenty days before her She looked beautiful as she lay a corpse dressed in white swiss and white roses on her bosom The coffin was a handsome rosewood casket glass case and heavy finish Two heavy wreaths of immortelles—white roses and green leaves lay on the casket during the funeral discourse And thus we tell the brief story of her death Long prior to that period she requested funeral services to be held when she should die and during these solemn services there were but few whose hearts were not touched The large church house could not seat the audience and the funeral cortege consisted of forty carriages—the largest funeral in this place for years.

And Bertie is no more A woman whose love for her husband is best evidenced by what she told her mother just prior to her death Ma I want to live to be with him This was her prayer for life And why should she not? A pleasant and happy home to be so suddenly and so soon laid in ruins Ah, we can never tell what we lose until the time comes when our loved ones shall be taken from us

A woman whose life has been spent among us whose sweet girlhood made us all her friends. In her family relations she was equally strong in the love of her associates The loving wife and daughter is called away, and her home is desolate for she was its life its sun But she has gone like a sweet lily she has perished Her grave on the hillside will soon be green and her pale hands so dumbly crossed on her bosom will soon loosen their hold, in dust but Bertie s name and memory shall be green in our memories forever Gone but

All that breathe
Will share thy destiny The gay will laugh
When thou art gone, the solemn brood of care
Plod on and each one as before will chase
His favorite phantom yet all these shall leave
Their mirth and their employments and shall come
And make their bed with thee

To the husband and relatives, it is a loss that time can not restore And dear friend in our hearts we extend you our sympathy The flowers of her bridal wreath to-day are crushed and wasted and her sweet life like an opening bud has opened and closed forever But

Thy fate is the common fate of all
Into each life some rain must fall
Some days must be dark and dreary

There let her rest there let her sleep the sleep that knows no waking and there will we many and many a day turn our sad faces a little while from the hurry and bustle of the busy world to remember her

When the summer moon is shining
Soft and fair
Friends she loved in tears are twining
Chaplets there
Rest in peace thou gentle spirit
Throned above—
Souls like thine with God inherit
Life and love

Nevada Fashion Item

[From the Eureka Republican]

The Republican reporter for the past few days has been devoting his fashionable attention to spring styles for gentlemen So far as he has observed a plug hat draws to the wearer the attention of the entire population Where a cane is carried, low mutterings are heard along Main street Upon the addition of eye glasses to this outfit a mob begins organizing and upon the appearance of kid gloves the execution takes place

An Astonishing Fact

A large proportion of the American people are to day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism take the advice of Druggists and your friends and try one bottle of Green s August Flower Your speedy relief is certain Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues with satisfactory results in every case You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try Three doses will relieve the worst case Positively sold by all Druggists on the Western Continent

To the Suffering People of Oregon & W T

From the party that clothed you in royal array?
Why not return, like the prodigal son?

You cannot serve Treason and Loyalty both.

Life-Long Disappointments.

[Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.]

The death of Catharine Beecher revives in full power the catastrophe by which she lost her betrothed, Prof. Fisher, who perished in the ill-fated Albion. Her bereavement and life-long disappointment seems very similar to that which Washington Irving suffered. What shipwreck did in the one instance, consumption did to the other. Irving was 28 years old when the life long shadow fell upon him, and Catharine Beecher was six years younger when a similar fate overwhelmed her. Irving says in reference to his own experience: "I saw her fade rapidly away, beautiful and more beautiful and more angelic to the very last. In her wandering state of mind she would talk to me with a sweet, natural, affecting eloquence that was overpowering. I was with her when she died, and was the last one she looked upon. For a long time I seemed to care for nothing, and the world was all a blank. Months elapsed before my mind would resume any tone; but the anguish that attended this catastrophe seemed to give a turn to my whole character, and threw some clouds upon my disposition which have ever since overhung it."

The dread fate which befell Professor Fisher almost shattered the mental organization of his betrothed. The darkness that shrouded her mind unsettled her religious faith for a time, and even reason almost reeled under the awful catastrophe. She fell back upon her father for consolation, and he who had suffered such a blow in the death of his first wife was called to forget his own sorrow in assuaging that of his child. Time is the only healer of such wounds, and this, with a devotion to the highest degree of usefulness, led the bereaved maiden into a pursuit which has endeared her to the American public. She never encouraged any second suitor, and felt till the last the power of early affection, thus fulfilling the words of Byron:

> "Time tempers love but ne'er removes;
> More hallowed when its hope is fled,
> O what are thousand living loves
> To that which cannot quit the dead?"

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 8.—Wool dull; manufacturers buying only for immediate wants. Quotations almost entirely nominal and sales to any extent could only be forced at low and unsatisfactory prices. Considerable new wool is arriving; but as most of these wools come in at high cost, holders find it difficult to place them except at a loss, and but a comparatively small quantity has yet passed into the hands of manufacturers. Machinery is being stopped in all directions and manufacturers are determined to reduce the quantity of goods on the market. This means a smaller consumption of wool, and any improvement in prices can scarcely be looked for at present. Holders are anxious to close up old stocks. Delaine and combing fleeces are quiet and prices entirely nominal; sales of Oregon 18a24c; Utah 20a25; California spring 17@30, fall 17½@18½. Sales of domestic for the week aggregate 739,900 pounds.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The freight market presents no new features, there being very fair business doing for the season. The Charles H. Marshall and Ivy both cleared to-day, but neither will finish loading till Monday on account of stormy weather to-day.

Freights at Philadelphia moderately active, with preference in favor of the Oracle, she being a leading ship.

Freights at Boston dull. The Sachem has sufficient light freight engaged but wants dead weight badly.

Railroad freights from Boston, rather quiet.

Wool is without any signs of improvement; sales, 40,000 lbs spring Pacific Coast, 19@30c.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

DR. BRENAN has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

DR. BRENAN will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
